BRIDGES AND TRESTLE WORK.

I have just completed a thorough examination of the Track, Bridges and Trestle Work; which enables me to report the Road in good condition. The Track, as you are aware, has been all laid (with edge rils) within the last five years, according to the best authorities on the durability of Rails and Crossties, should now show but little deterioration in Rails, and only a moderate amount of decay in Crossties.— This, however, is not the fact. From the date of my first examination of the road, (Dec. 1854,) to the end of September, our repair hands have been fully employed in putting in 2,899 43 new crossties, and a small number (all that were on hand) of 1,747 07 new rails. The number of crossties laid since January, is 65,000-50 tons of new rails have also been laid down, 600 00 about 200 additional rails, taken from points where they could be spared, making about 599 new rails added to the track, since January, 1855. Being about 28 miles of new crossties, and more than one mile of rails renewed this sea-> with old crossties from the flat rail track, and in some cases | the company's business for the past year old wooden railing was used for crossties. Another cause of the rapid destruction of the crossties on this road is the absence of the "chair" at the joints. It is a fact that my attention has been often called to by almost every Master of Repairs, that the joint crossties have to be replaced (they say) every two, or at most, three years, while the other crossties will last from six to seven years. The rails are also much injured by the omission of the "chair," as can readily be seen, in consequence of the difficulty of keeping the rails firmly in their place. The spike will not hold the ends of them firmly on the crossties. Assuming this estimate of the durability of the track to be correct, and we shall have to provide for renewing one-sixth of the whole number of crossties, and one-twelvth of the rails, annually. COVERED BRIDGES.

The old trestle Bridge over "Smith's Creek" was deemed unsafe by my predecessor, and he had caused abutments and a pier to be constructed of stone, for a new Bridge. I recommended a "Lattice" Bridge, which the Board of Directors ordered to be constructed. The bridge has been completed (except the weather-boarding and roofing) to my satisfaction. The old lattice bridge over the "North-East" branch of the Cape Fear was examined and found to have settled and become somewhat we greatly but it was found as the construction. become somewhat warped, but it was found, upon a thorough examination, that the timbers were sound, and that "bench-es" having been placed under the middle of each span had much strengthened it that an immediate reconstruction was not necessary ; though it was deemed best to prepare ; course having been approved by the Board of Directors, ma-terials will soon be in readiness for a new bridge, to be framed and laid aside until wanted at this point. The bridge over "Rocktish" was thoroughly rebuilt by my predecessor, and is now in good condition. The "Neuse River" bridge is a new and good one.

The bridges over "Contentney Creek," "Fishing Creek," and "Quanky," are in a good state of preservation.

The bridge over the "Tar River" warped and settled considerably, several years since, but as the timbers are sound, I design putting plank arches in each span, (after raising and strengthening it.) to preserve the proper position and give the necessary strength.

The trestle work has been well overhauled and repaired during the past summer, and is in good order. The cost of keeping up the trestle work is so great that I hope, at an early day, to avail myself of the authority recently granted by the Board of Directors, to employ two gravel trains in filling it up. The annual repair of this work cannot cost less than $15,000. There are about three miles of it, in addition to culverts and covered bridges above enumerated. Nearly the whole three miles can be filled, and thus reduce our expenses in this branch by at least $15,000 per annum.

REPAIR SHOPS.

The force employed in the Company's Repair Shops, has been constantly occupied during the year with repairs and new work.

The Machine Shop has received about $7,000 worth of superior, new tools, which now enables us to do promptly, economically and thoroughly, the repairs to our Engines that become necessary, as well as to rebuild several of the Company's old ones, that require overhauling.

There have been constructed at the Company's Shops, during the year, three second-class passenger cars, three second-class passenger and baggage cars, and 25 box freight cars, besides the repairs to make good cars injured by accidents, heretofore referred to. It gives me pleasure to report the Road, its buildings and achinery, in very excellent order, with the exceptions alluded to above. I would also except wood and water stations, that are now undergoing repairs. TRANSPORTATION.

We have this year carried over the Road 33,499 through we have this year carried over the Road 33,499 through passengers, and 68,644 way passengers—an average number of 290 passengers per day. Our passenger trains—day and night—have run regularly, seldom missing a mail connection, and without injury to life or limb, except in one case, and that but a very slight injury, and caused by the passenger himself, from standing where he ought not to have stood, on the platform of the cars. Our day express train has run at an average rate of thirty miles per hour, and our night train at twenty-five miles per hour. When arrangements at staat twenty-five miles per hour. When arrangements at sta-tions are so perfected as to render stoppages of three or four minutes (for wood and water or passengers), only necessary, we can reduce our speed.

The through travel has fallen off this year, in consequence of the general depression of business, while our way travel has increased. The precise extent of this change from last year, cannot be determined, because of the blending of teamboat and Rail Road receipts during a portion of last year.

But by comparing the receipts for eight months of last year, after the Boats were taken off, with the corresponding months of this year, we find the way travel has yielded an increased income of more than $13,000, which ratio would give about $20,000 increase in the whole year, from this As was anticipated, considerable feeling against me has As was anticipated, considerable leeling against me has been manifested, in consequence of my endeavors to restrain the "free riding" within the limits prescribed by the Board of Directors. If any errors have been committed in this matter, they were unintentional and resulted from a determinant of the control of the con nination to do my duty faithfully and impartially. Many Rail Road Companies have been compelled to cut the free riding off altogether, in consequence of the great difficultry of restraining it within proper limits.

The whole number of miles run by passenger trains this The whole number of miles run by passenger trains this year, is 236,520. Rail Road, transported, in part, in 1833, butlicharged in March, 1854, yet it has not equalled our expectations. The great falling off in our downward freight, caused by the depressed state of the market for the freight, caused by the depressed state of the market for the great staple of Eastern Carolina, (Naval Stores) has reduced our income from this surce more than $8,000. This sum would have given us a total of $150,000 for the year, which was anticipated.

I have, with your approbation, adopted what I trust will prove a more economical and efficient method of supplying fuel fer our engines. It is briefly as follows: to have only sh to eight stations for wood and water for the passenger train where the wood is the property of the station keeper, w delivers it to the engines as it is wanted, and for which h delivers it to the engines as a check from the engineer. The proposed reduction in the number of repair hands and section masters, which has met your approbation, togethe with the new arrangements I am now trying to effect in the manner of supplying wood and water, will reduce our roa and transportation expenses about $10,000 per annum. For the details of the operations of the road, I beg to refer you to the tables accompanying this report. Permit me to call your attention to the faithful, prome and satisfactory manner in which the officers and employ $234,718 90 and satisfactory manner in which the officers and employees of the Company under my direction (with but few exceptions) have performed the duties required of them. I think it would $233.321 39 add to the efficiency of the management in operating the road, to require each officer who is responsible to ner in which his assistants perform their duty, to recomm to the proper authorities such persons as he may be willing responsible for; and, as a matter of course, with out there is some manifest objection, let such retions be confirmed. This method seems to succeed well wher t has been adopted, and on most of the best conducte t is now in force.

I cannot, in closing this report, fail to express the high pinion I entertain of the long and faithful services of able and experienced predecessor, who, in performing double duty of President and Superintendant, has rende most valuable services to the Company. If, in any recommendation I have at any time felt it my duty to make, I have liffered in opinion from him, or in any manner changed management adopted by him, it was not from any want of respect for, or confidence in, his superior knowledge and experience, but solely because I believed the weight of testimony, confirmed by my own observation, impelled me to the course I have taken

From the London Times, Oct. 25. threatened Difficulty between Great Britain and the United States.

The English government is omitting no opportunity of reinforcing the West India squadron, and thus interposing a powerful fleet between this country and North American continent. This proceeding will, we doubt not, call forth from a large portion of the American press that species of mild and tempeate comment in which they delight whenever the conduct of England is in question. and a little political capital is to be manufactured by making her the object of invective and depreciation. We shall be told, no doubt, of the fiendish hatred of England to Republican America, and of the insolent menace behind which she veils her insidious and treacherous designs. Without the slightest wish to reflect in any way on the press which allows itself to be made the vehicle of such statements, or upon the constituencies whose votes are found to be influenced by such calumnies, we wish to point out to the good sense and moderation of the American people the causes which have led us, even in time of war, to increase our squadron in their seas, and may possibly lead us still further in a direction, the first steps toward which we are now most unwillingly taking. We entreat, then, the American public to believe. notwithstanding the assertions to the contrary with which they are so assiduously plied, that there is no party or body of men in this country that regards them with any other feeling than that of the utmost good will, or would wish for them any other fate than the enjoyment of the utmost public freedom which is consistent with the utmost private liberty and security. We have neither the wish nor the right to intrude our opinion on that form of government which has been established in the United States; but we have, and we claim the right, to take every reasonable precaution against that spirit of unbridled license which the present government of the United States seems inclined to tolerate. At this moment North America is in profound peace with the whole world; yet it is not the less true that in her ports are fitting out at this moment piratical fillioustering expeditions, destined to carry war and bloodshed into the dominions of an unoffending neighbor. These expeditions do not receive the sanction of the American government, are not equipned by its funds, will not be conducted by its officers: but their preparation is nevertheless well known to the President and his administration, and receives no check from that quarter. This toleration, we are willing to suppose, proceeds from weakness merely, and would be exchanged for vigorous action, only that the power to act is utterly wanting.

The American people are so free that they will not he controlled by a government of their own creating, and, though laudably eager for the preservation of their own dignity and the assertion of their own rights, cannot bring themselves to tolerate an Execntive sufficiently strong to compel respect for the rights of neutral nations. It is because we see no hope of finding in the United States a government capable of preventing its citizens from waging private war on their own account against the best friends and truest allies of the great republic that we are most unwillingly compelled, even in the midst of the great European struggle in which we are engaged, to assume a defensive attitude, in order to trample out the first sparks of this fire, and prevent a conflagration which, if once allowed to spread, may cause incalculable misery to the human race. It is the misfortune of the American republic that she contains within her borders so many desperate and lawless men; it is still more her misfortune that she does not possess an organization sufficiently powerful to crush these criminal attempts. That which she cannot do we are compelled, at least so far as the lawless enterprises directed against ourselves go, to do for her.

We cannot wait patiently till these lawless emis saries of insurrection and plunder have set their feet within Her Majesty's dominions, and encountered there the resistance which is sure to overwhelm their wild and desperate schemes. We cannot wait till we are placed in the terrible dilemma of either sparing men to whom clemency is cruelty to the human race of which they are the enemies, or of inflicting a just punishment, which may be the means of inflaming against us the passions of the American people and eading to a disastrous and fratricidal war. We will if it be possible, prevent the crime that otherwise in would be our duty most severely to punish, and thi we do in the name and in the hope of peace. We cannot believe that those who are now engaged in enrolling unhappy men for these desperate and criminal enterprises really contemplate the success of a descent upon Ireland, for instance, as probable, or even possible. All they can hope is that the miserable tate sure to attend such wretched adventurers may be the means of inflaming the public mind against England, and stirring up the passions of the people a point which might render war inevitable. Thi consummation it is the duty of the American Government, if it can, to prevent—and, as it cannot, of the Government against which such attempts are aimed, all means to avert. If we can prevent these exditions from sailing, or intercept them in mid-ocean.

But is it for the credit of those free institutions so ften vaunted as all that is wise, perfect and liberal on the face of the earth, that a friendly and kindred nation, ardently desiring peace, should feel itself comelled to stand on the defensive, not because it has serious dispute with the Government of this free nd happy community, but because that Government g forth to murder and to plunder in the dominions an unoffending ally? North Carolina Baptist State Convention. On Wednesday last at 3 o'clock P. M., the delegates composing the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, assembled, according to previous appointment in the Baptist Church in Warrenton. The number of delegates clerical and lay, appeared unu-sually large. Upon taking the Chair, the President of the Convention, Rev. Jas. McDaniel, of Fayetteville, read a portion of the sacred Scriptures, and delivered to the members of the Convention a short but most eloquent and impressive charge, at the conclusion of which the 788th hymn of the Baptist Collection was after which, an appropriate and solemn prayer was offered to the throne of Almighty God by the Rev. J. B. Solomor, of Warrenton. In the absence of the former Secretary of the Convention, Dr. S. J. These unfortunate men are represented to be carried from China to the Chincas, for the most part, if not exclusively, on board of British vessels. "No sooner are they landed from the ships than they see tall armed with a lash of four plaits of cow-hide, laid up in the form of what seamen call round sennet," five feet in length, an inch and a half in diameter, tapering to a point. During the forenoons, for regular about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, many of the weakest had not performed their task work, the boatswain freely used to start those behind to bring the day's supervision to a close. The slightest resistance was punished by a flogging little short of murder, as on many melancholy occasions we have witnessed, being nearer than we desired. There was no tying up, the nearest China man being compelled, by a cut of the lash, to lay hold of an arm or leg, and stretch the miserable sufferer on his stomach on the guano. The mere weight alone of the lash made their bodies shake, blackening the flesh at every blow, besides cutting like a sabre; and when a convulsive movement took place, a subordinate placed his boot on the shoulder to keep the quivering body down. Two dozen made them breathless, and when released after thirty-nine lashes they seemed slowly to stagger over, reeled and fell, and were carried off to the hospital; in most cases, if they recovered, committed suicide, for no human heart, unless elevated by Christian training, could, after undergoing so cruel an infliction, ever have made at 65@70c $\mathref{p}$ bushel. Oats (out of stores), 50 cen after undergoing so cruel an infliction, ever have more than two feelings, that is death to those suffered from, or to himself. Accordingly, during our stay there, many sprang over the cliffs, many buried themselves alive in the guano, and many hid themselves in the caves to starve to death; their dead bodies floating all around in numbers. In one instance, two, emboldened by pity shown them by a shipmaster, hid themselves on board his vessel, one REPUDIATING THE SECRET ORDER.-We call the serious attention of our readers to the following exjure Know Nothingism. The reason he assigned will be appreciated by every intelligent voter who has watched the progress of the order, and familiarized himself with its result: "When Know Nothingism first manifested itself, it came wooing the South with the soothing, sweet and affectionate voice of Jacob; we lent a willing ear to it, hoping that it would be a power in the North to master and swallow up abolitionism. But knowledge of the English language to understand the there would be in the cake shops? Where would its hands have been the hands of Esau, strong, rugnature of the evidence in the case, and consequently the omelets be found ?—where the custards?—where ged, aggressive, warlike, striking down the rights, outraging the feelings, and prostrating the interests of the South-tendering nothing in exchange but a mess of pottage, seeking to bribe the sons of the South with hopes of the inheritance, while it robbed them of all. As soon as the mask was thrown off, inst., an editorial abstract of the proceedings of the and Know Nothingism at the North and Abolitionism became 'one and indivisible,' we washed our hands of it. It was not the feast to which we were invited."

"I love thy kingdom, Lord, The house of thine abode," &c.;
